

Lancaster FM104 Update

The nose section has been unloaded from its shipping container and moved to the Restoration Hangar where initial work is underway to capture pre-restoration details. Some external markings have been recreated to enable photographic documentation prior to restoration work on the exterior of this section of fuselage. Detailed photographic records are also being captured of the interior of the fuselage prior to disassembly and restoration.

The Museum is open seven days a week for visitors to watch the progress of this work.
